CAUCASUS SCHOOL OF TECHNOLOGY:

Caucasus School of Technology was established in 2008. Its purpose is to prepare competitive specialists corresponding to the latest requirements of the field. The school is equipped with modern laboratories, studios and spaces for practical work.

To achieve all this, the school creates a comfortable learning environment, introduces learning methodologies tested in the leading universities of the West, develops programs relevant to the field, with the participation of highly qualified academic staff.

Since 2021, the Caucasus School of Technology has been cooperating with BIT SENTINEL, the organizer of the large-scale European cyber security event "DedCamp", on the basis of which Caucasus University and its partner, Scientific Cyber Security Association, were granted the authority to hold international cyber security events-hackathons in the Caucasus region.

FAIRLEIGH DICKINSON UNIVERSITY:

One of the most successful universities in the USA and the leading university in New Jersey. Today, it integrates more than 100 bachelor's, master's and PhD programs that provide multidisciplinary, intercultural and ethical knowledge.

The educational facility consists of a huge network of campuses.
