ABOUT ME:

My name is Ninaka Cheishvili. I am studying Diplomacy and International Relations at Caucasus University. I have internship experience in both the public and private sectors, which allows me to apply theoretical knowledge in practice and continuously improve my professional skills.

I am particularly interested in event planning and organization. The creative field is especially important to me – I study graphic design with great enthusiasm and I am currently working as an interior designer. This field gives me the opportunity to transform my ideas into real spaces and express my vision in a creative way.

I enjoy teamwork, meeting new people, and getting involved in interesting projects. I also actively participate in student and youth initiatives, which significantly contribute to my personal and professional development.
