ABOUT ME:

My name is Salome, and I'm a third-year psychology student at Caucasus University's School of Humanities and Social Sciences. I chose to study psychology because I've always been fascinated by human behavior and wanted to better understand the way people think, feel, and interact. Outside of university, I have a variety of hobbies that keep me balanced and active. I love baking, whether it's trying new recipes or making my favorite desserts, it's something that brings me joy and allows me to be creative. I also consider myself to be very handy so i love engaging in activities like pottery and knitting. I wanted to become an ambassador for Caucasus University because i wanted to step out of my comfort zone and connect with others, and this role gives me a great opportunity to socialize more, represent my university, and be part of a supportive community.
