

Akaki Kapanadze

Universitat Rovira i Virgili, Spain

On July 7–11, 2025, Akaki Kapanadze, Director of the Project Management Department at Caucasus University, participated in the Erasmus+ administrative personnel mobility program at the Universitat Rovira i Virgili (URV), Spain.

Throughout the visit a variety of high-level meetings and discussions with representatives of URV's International Center, project coordination offices, and educational technology departments were planned. These sessions provided an in-depth look at international project management practices, particularly within the KA1 and KA2 ERASMUS frameworks, as well as insight into innovative digital learning strategies and institutional collaboration through the AURORA European Universities initiative.

This visit at the partner university proved to be a valuable experience, improving professional skills and strengthening cooperation between the universities. The visit also created opportunities for new future joint projects and institutional development.
