

Ana Deriugina

SMK College of Applied Sciences, Lithuania

During the week of November 10-14, within the framework of the Erasmus+ administrative mobility program, Ana Deriugina, Administrative Manager of the Caucasus University Training Center, participated in the International Week program at SMK College of Applied Sciences, Lithuania.

During the week, the university representative was involved in various activities aimed at deepening international relations between universities. Also, discussions on improving learning processes among colleagues were actively held. Within the framework of the program, participants made presentations and shared their experience and best practices on how to provide knowledge to students in the most effective and innovative way.

The program also included cultural activities that allowed participants to better understand the university environment and the history and culture of Vilnius as a city.
