Kodolanyi Janos University, Hungary

During the week of March 31 – April 4, 2025, Salome Gavashelishvili, a representative of the Caucasus University School of Business, was at Kodolanyi Janos University, Hungary, as part of the Erasmus+ administrative staff mobility.

During the visit, the participant had the opportunity to meet with representatives of the university administration and discuss opportunities for strengthening bilateral cooperation. It is also worth noting the meeting with a representative of the Business School of the partner university, during which they discussed student mobility issues and shared information about their working styles and experiences.

In addition, the participant had the opportunity to attend a lecture from the Faculty of Business — “Sustainable Development” — and become acquainted with different techniques and methods of conducting a lecture.

This type of mobility fully serves the goals of the Erasmus+ program — to promote international experience sharing, cultural exchange, and professional development in the field of higher education.
