Studying abroad has always been a goal of mine, and when the opportunity to participate in the Erasmus+ program given by the Caucasus University came up, I couldn't let it pass by. As a result, for the spring semester of 2025 I studied at the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznan, Poland.

Erasmus+ provided me with a unique opportunity to become part of a new environment, step out of my comfort zone, grow both personally and professionally, develop qualities that will be useful in my future career.

And the new academic environment gave me the chance to meet professionals from different countries and fields and provided me with the opportunity to exchange ideas and insights with colleagues from around the world.

I've always been drawn to the idea of better understanding the diversity of our world, and thanks to Erasmus+, I was able to immerse myself in different cultures firsthand.

This experience allowed me not only to learn more about other countries but also to share the richness of my own culture. I conducted a few lessons in a local school where I talked about Georgia, and I also was pleasantly surprised by how much my friends enjoyed Georgian cuisines — we visited local Georgian restaurants several times!

This is an experience I will always remember with a smile, a warm heart and a feeling of being forever grateful. I am confident that the Erasmus+ program offers incredible opportunities, and I will always encourage everyone to participate in this life changing opportunity.
