

Nino Giorgadze

Bachelors program in PR and Communications
Caucasus School of Media
Koc University, Turkiye

“I had always wanted to study abroad, but I had never considered pursuing my education in Turkey until Caucasus University offered our faculty an exchange program. For me, Istanbul had always been a city full of mysteries and rich history, with a unique character unlike any other city. That’s why I decided to take my chances in Istanbul. Fortunately, I was given this opportunity, and the Erasmus+ program turned out to be one of the most exciting and enjoyable experiences of my life.

In the spring semester of 2025, I studied at Koç University, which is considered one of the leading universities in Turkey. I am grateful to have received high-quality education from experienced professors, gained new skills, and had the kind of academic experience that is only possible through international education.

The most valuable part, however, was the human connections. I made loyal friends from different corners of the world, discovered new cultures and values, and built meaningful relationships.

Despite many challenges along the way, I believe this experience made me stronger and more independent. This decision became one of the turning points in both my professional and personal development. The Erasmus+ program gave me the opportunity to spend a semester abroad full of learning and travel.

I am certain that this experience will be extremely useful for my future career. I would recommend every student to be brave and not miss out on such an opportunity.”