

Vladimer Luarsabishvili

University of Valladolid, Spain

During April 13-17, within the framework of the Erasmus+ administrative mobility program, an international week for administrative and academic staff was held in Valladolid, Spain, in which Professor Vladimer Luarsabishvili of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences of Caucasus University participated.

Within the framework of the program, the university representative presented information about the educational and scientific activities of Caucasus University to the academic and administrative staff of Valladolid University, as well as information about his own scientific research and lecture courses. Within the framework of the international week, Vladimer Luarsabishvili participated in various planned activities, such as a conference on the use of digital methods in the humanities and the creation of electronic programs to improve learning objectives, which deepened his professional experience. The purpose of the visit was to share experience, academic practice and deepen cooperation between universities.

Representatives of higher education institutions from different countries participated in the event. The participants presented their universities, exchanged information on educational systems and institutional specifics, which contributes to the improvement of educational processes and deepens cooperation with universities from different countries.
