

David Tsiklauri

ISCTE – Institute of Lisbon, Portugal

David Tsiklauri, Director of the Research Facilitation and Strategic Development Departments at Caucasus University, participated in an academic mobility under the Erasmus+ program from April 13–17, 2026, hosted by ISCTE – University Institute of Lisbon in Portugal.

During the mobility, he took part in both academic and research activities, including a qualitative research workshop focused on inclusion in the workplace.

Within the framework of the visit, David Tsiklauri also participated in activities organized under the project “HERE: Higher Education for Resilient Economy” and met with editors of leading international scientific journals. This provided valuable experience in better understanding publication strategies and academic standards.

In addition, David Tsiklauri was a speaker at a roundtable discussion on the use of artificial intelligence in university teaching, which brought together researchers from Portugal, Poland, and South Africa.