Nana Sharikadze
Lund University, Sweden

During 2-6 November, Nana Sharikadze, Associate Professor at the School of Humanities and Social Sciences of Caucasus University, Academic Head of the BA Programme in Art Studies, and Head of the International Research Centre for Georgian Studies, visited Lund University in Sweden within the framework of Erasmus+ Staff Mobility for Teaching and participated in its International Week programme. During her mobility, Nana Sharikadze took part in various academic and professional activities.

As part of the programme, she delivered a seminar at the Malmö Academy of Music entitled “Artistic Citizenship - When Art Becomes a Civic Voice,” exploring the role of art as a means of civic expression and public engagement.

She also met with Michelle Anderlini, Head of RUCARR. During the meeting, they discussed future research collaboration opportunities and agreed on several areas for potential cooperation.
Furthermore, as part of EU Days Lund, Nana Sharikadze participated in a panel discussion entitled “EU as a Symbolic Power,” contributing to the discussion on the European Union's symbolic power and its significance.

Erasmus+ staff mobility promotes the development of international academic partnerships, the exchange of knowledge and experience, and new opportunities for research collaboration.
