

Salome Chikviladze
Dunarea de Jos University of Galati, Romania

During April 20–24, within the framework of the Erasmus+ academic staff mobility program, Salome Chikviladze, a lecturer at the School of Media at Caucasus University, visited the Dunarea de Jos University of Galati in Romania.

The program included both the delivery of a lecture course and working meetings with representatives of the Faculty of Economics and Business Administration. During the visit, the university representative had the opportunity to become thoroughly acquainted with the host university's educational process.

The purpose of the meetings was to share experience and academic practices, as well as to strengthen cooperation.

Throughout the visit, the lecturer delivered classes and actively participated in meetings with students and academic staff, where she shared her professional experience. Special attention was given to modern student-centered teaching methods and strategies.
