

Maia Nikuradze, Natia Khuskivadze, Maia Bolataevi

RISEBA University, Riga

Within the framework of the Erasmus+ administrative mobility program, we were at RISEBA University of Applied Sciences in Riga. Since it is important to share experience within the framework of this program, in order to get to know the activities of colleagues and exchange experience, we met with the head of RISEBA University's teaching department, the heads of the international relations department, the Quality center and the career Development center.

At the meetings, we talked about all important and interesting issues for them: among them, the purpose of creating a student service center and the quality of student services. We discussed the planning and conducting of study and examination processes, as well as introduced our experience on an online program tailored to the needs of university students and showed how the program worked technically. We also shared information about our student-employer collaborations and their involvement in employment forums and meetings.

The information about the joint programs at the university and the successful stages of the AACSB international accreditation process aroused great interest.