

Caucasus School of Tourism (CTS)

"From the very beginning, when I was a freshman, I thought many times that I would quit, go somewhere else to study and spend my student years more simply. I wanted to do this because this educational institution required a lot of my time and rest of my life practically depended on it. Back then I could not imagine what was waiting for me in the future. With the help of practicing lecturers, I realized where and how I would apply the knowledge gained here, and in fact, it is the merit of Caucasus University that I have been living alone, completely independently, for 5 years now, after finishing my studies. It is the merit of the people working here that I am still motivated and that some force is constantly pushing me forward.

Thanks to Caucasus University, at the age of 19 I was studying at Turiba Business University, where I even volunteered and participated in various events organized by the university.

Thanks to Caucasus University, I got a paid internship at a five-star hotel, and from here, my career began, and I went through about five stages from being an outdoor pool cleaner to a sales manager. I went to China and spent a few weeks studying the development of hotel strategic modules.

The lecturers of this university have always been "role models" for me and each lecture by Dr. Kakha was a kind of "charger" for me. I was getting motivated and energetic. I have tried everything at this university and with the contacts I've made here I have participated in many projects and events. I have truly found myself.

Now I am the head of the public relations department of the LEPL Youth Center of the Ministry of Education of Adjara and I am an invited lecturer in the field of tourism at the "Black Sea" College.

A few months ago I became the winner in the media/marketing category of the Forbes Georgia project "30 under 30".

That's not all, there is still a long way to go; the road is full of challenges and I am not afraid at all, because I know exactly who I started with and where I am going."
