"Hard work always pays off!" - This is a phrase I heard at one of the lectures at Caucasus University, which has become a constant reminder in my life.

In 2021, my partner and I actively started working and studying the technology that is still not very popular in Georgia. We have created an online store of handmade decorative mirrors "HALO •", which has no analogues in the Georgian market, and actively started operating throughout Georgia and not only Georgia.

The skills and acquired knowledge, which help me in my work daily, I earned at Caucasus University. Results-oriented goal setting, straight-line thinking, and most importantly, self-confidence turned out to be the components that help me achieve my goal. I have always believed that there is no limit to human abilities and the magnitude of the goal, the main thing is the path chosen to achieve it and selfless work."
