University of Szczecin, Poland

„Although the University of Szczecin was founded only 25 years ago, the university offers a wide range of research opportunities: laboratories, libraries, scientific conferences and seminars. For me, as a doctoral student, the most important thing was direct contact with the academic staff and constant consultation with them. In addition, the University will constantly assist you in participating in the activities necessary for doctoral research throughout Poland.

Due to the fact that I was given the opportunity to have a local scientific supervisor, it was much easier for me to adapt to the university and, most importantly, to conduct fruitful research. The University of Szczecin fully lived up to the expectations that I, a doctoral student, and at the same time a researcher could have.”
