

Lizi Megrelishvili
Caucasus School of Governance
Radboud University, Netherlands

„After applying at the Caucasus University, one of the main goals for me was to participate into the Erasmus+ program. Fortunately, I was able to spend spring 2020 semester at the Radboud University, Netherlands. Six months spent at the Radboud University has definitely been special and diverse. The learning method was different, but this has made learning process more interesting. We were attending classes alongside with lots of exchange students from different countries, which has enabled us to not only get acquainted with each other’s culture, but also to perceive things differently around us.

Because of pandemic, we had to shift to online classes, but Radboud University has ideally managed to deal with this challenge and beside with classes, together with different online activities, they have managed to create comfortable environment.

ESN (Erasmus+ Student Network) has created very good memories and pampered us with unforgettable days. Unfortunately, because of COVID-19, I was not able to leave up all my plans, but with overcoming different hardships, I have become more independent and confident. I have received quite a big experience during this semester, which will also be useful in future. I think, that Erasmus+ program helps students to not only grow professionally, but personally. I will always be proud that I had the opportunity to study at the one of the best Universities, that’s why I suggest every student to use this chance.”