

Mariam Arsenashvili

Caucasus School of Governance

LCC International University, Lithuania

„I had heard about the Erasmus+ exchange program while still studying at high school and decided to take advantage of this fantastic opportunity one day definitely. It happened so, and I spent one academic semester in Lithuania at LCC International University. Although, at first, I thought it would be difficult for me to adapt to the new environment, I did not turn out to be right. On the first day of my arrival, thanks to the amazingly friendly atmosphere at the university, my very interesting and exciting life full of positive emotions began. During my few months there, I learned how to live independently, which allowed me to grow personally. In addition, I met many people from different parts of the world, learned about their cultures, and worldviews, and many of them remain my dearest friends even today. I also traveled to other European countries and collected many unforgettable and happy memories.

The student events that LCC was planning for us were diverse and truly impressive. The learning system was quite different from that of the Caucasus University; however, it was not hard to adapt to it; on the contrary, it turned into a fascinating experience. My lecturers were American professors, true professionals in their field, and extremely friendly, so much so that I am still in touch with some of them. The lecture process was constantly loaded with interactive activities that made learning easier and more attractive.

I can safely say that all of my expectations about Erasmus+ were met. It was a great opportunity to get out of my comfort zone and develop personally, which brought me back to my country with much more confidence.”