Polytechnic University of Valencia, Spain

"In September 2024, as part of the Erasmus+ academic staff mobility program, I was at the Polytechnic University of Valencia, where I gave a series of lectures on cybersecurity. The lectures covered the basic concepts of the field and the latest trends in the industry. Each session provided valuable insights into the strategies needed to protect digital assets in our increasingly connected world, helping participants better understand the challenges and opportunities in cybersecurity.

In addition to the lectures, a productive meeting was held with UPV professors to discuss various joint projects. We shared our research interests and experiences, as well as ideas for ongoing initiatives. This collaboration has opened the door to potential partnerships that promise to foster innovative scientific endeavors. Our discussion touched on a wide range of topics, from the latest cybersecurity research to the development of collaborative programs that will benefit both students and educators."
