

Levan Gotua

Inholland University of Applied Sciences

„In April 2024, within the Erasmus+ academic staff mobility program, I was at Inholland University of Applied Sciences, Netherlands.

During the visit, I conducted lectures to students of the Faculty of Business and Administration at the Alkmaar campus on the topic: payment instruments in international trade.

Furthermore, the students got acquainted with brief information about Georgia and the Caucasus University.

Additionally, I met local academic staff and administration representatives. We discussed the great importance of international relations and similar visits, opportunities for joint research and involvement of students in international projects.

Prospects for specific future cooperation and projects were also set.”