„From May 13 to May 17, 2024, we had opportunity to participate in the International Staff Week organized by Koç University, in Istanbul, as part of the Erasmus+ administrative mobility program.

During the mobility program, we met more than 30 representatives of different countries from all around the world and shared the experience of internalization processes, best practices and innovative programs of our universities.

We visited Sabanci University in Istanbul and participated in the interesting workshops and seminars, which aimed to share different perspectives and discuss the main challenges of education.

Within the staff mobility week, Koç University held Study Abroad Fair, where we had an opportunity to present Caucasus University and its innovative programs and practices.

Besides participating in educational sessions and discussions, we could participate in campus tours organized by the host universities and Istanbul city tour to get to know the important aspects of Turkish culture and history.

International Staff Week was the great opportunity for sharing knowledeg and experience and building future partnerships.”
