„When I was applying to university, my main goal was, if possible, to receive education not only in Georgia but also abroad. I wanted to experience foreign cultures and perspectives. Erasmus+ represents opportunities!

With the support of Caucasus University, I was able to study in Germany at Saarland University during the Fall semester of the 2024-2025 academic year as part of the Erasmus exchange program and gain an unforgettable experience for one semester. I gained immense knowledge and grew not only academically but also personally. This experience also gave me more self-confidence.

During my time in Germany, I made many foreign friends and was exposed to foreign cultures. This period showed me how important intercultural communication and understanding different mentalities are. I had the opportunity to attend lectures taught by professors who are graduates of Harvard University.

I wish for every student to experience these feelings, emotions, and this experience.

Thanks to Caucasus University for opening another big door to success toward my goals.

To you, students and prospective students, believe in your own abilities!”
