Caucasus School of Business

Inholland University of Applied Sciences, The Netherlands

As soon as I became a student at Caucasus University, I knew I wanted to be apart of Erasmus+ program. In the second semester of my third year, I made this dream come true and spent one semester in the Netherlands.

Studying at the InHolland University of Applied Sciences was a completely new experience for me. The main focus was on practical exercises, which is very important for professional development. Working on projects with companies improved my practical skills and allowed me to get to know the business world better.

Living in the Netherlands gave me a chance to explore a new culture and be surrounded by students from all over the world. Being in a completely new environment is not easy, but I managed to spend the most unforgettable 6 months with these people. Working on projects with them, traveling and sharing experiences with each other was the most memorable part of the Erasmus+ program.

I am glad that I had the opportunity to be a part of this project. The Erasmus+ program is not just a trip to another country, it is a step forward towards professional and personal development.
