„I always knew I wanted to study abroad. When choosing a university, the possibility of participating in an exchange program was a key factor in my decision. Caucasus University gave me this opportunity, and the ERASMUS+ exchange program became one of the most significant experiences of my life. The opportunity to explore a new culture, connect with people from different backgrounds, and gain international academic experience was something I deeply valued.

In the fall semester of 2024, I studied at Inholland University in the Netherlands. I had the opportunity to study in a dynamic and diverse environment, collaborate with international students, and develop both personally and professionally. This experience was full of new challenges—adjusting to a different educational system, overcoming language barriers, and stepping out of my comfort zone. However, each challenge contributed to my growth and development.

The exchange program was not just an academic experience. It was an unforgettable adventure that equipped me with new skills and knowledge. Additionally, making friends from different countries and exploring new cultures broadened my perspective on the world even further.

Looking back, I am grateful for the decision I made and the opportunities my university provided. This was a path that showed me that we develop the most when we set new challenges for ourselves. For any student considering an exchange program, I can confidently say: it's a journey worth taking!”
