

Eka Akobia

Tuscia/Italy

“Within the framework of the Erasmus + Mobility Agreement between Caucasus University and the University of Tuscany, Italy, I spent the week of November 27-December 3 in Italy. During the visit, I had lectures at the University of Tuscany, where my host colleague was Dr. Sante Crucian, a lecturer at the Faculty of Political Science.

During the exchange visit, I was given the opportunity to give lectures on the theories of international relations: Realism, Liberalism and Constructivism to students of the Political Science of Tuscany University. It was very helpful for me to give a lecture to a foreign audience, to compare Georgian and Italian audiences, and to get acquainted with various practical and academic contexts. At the same time, it was an honor to get to know my Italian colleagues and to strengthen links for further academic collaboration in the future. ”